iafor would like to thank its global institutional partners
“To Open Minds, To Educate Intelligence, To Inform Decisions”

The International Academic Forum (IAFOR) provides new perspectives to the thought-leaders and decision-makers of today and tomorrow by offering constructive environments for dialogue and interchange at the intersections of nation, culture, and discipline. Headquartered in Japan, with offices in Nagoya and Kobe, IAFOR is an independent think tank committed to the deeper understanding of contemporary geo-political transformation, particularly in the Asia Pacific Region.

IAFOR is a registered non-profit organisation (General Association 一般社団法人). The organisation’s commercial activities are operated by a mission-driven social enterprise that underwrites the organisation and funds non-profit and charitable activities.

ASIA’S THINK TANK
international | intercultural | interdisciplinary
THINK.IAFOR.ORG is IAFOR’s brand new online magazine, launched for 2016. THINK is an ambitious project conceived by academics, for academics, with the following objectives:

– To provide an international, far-reaching platform for the best research presented at IAFOR conferences

– To make original, high-quality, thought-provoking multimedia content freely accessible to a wide readership

– To facilitate the opportunity for academics to step outside of the traditional research publishing status quo – to get creative, explore different disciplines and to have their ideas heard, shared and discussed by a diverse, global audience

Content published on THINK spans a wide variety of disciplines and the format is varied, encompassing full research papers, long-form journalism, opinion pieces, creative writing, interviews, podcasts, video, photography and more. Current contributing authors include leading academics such as Professor A. Robert Lee, Professor Bill Ashcroft and Professor J.A.A. Stockwin.

SUBMIT TO THINK

We are currently accepting editorials, interviews, essays, creative writing, featured profiles and article submissions. We welcome photographs to accompany your writing as well as topical photo-essays.

Submissions should be between 750 and 3,000 words and sent to us at magazine@iafor.org. Please include ‘THINK submission’ in the subject line.
Dear Colleagues,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to The Asian Conference on Cultural Studies 2016 (ACCS2016) and The Asian Conference on Asian Studies 2016 (ACAS2016), held alongside The IAFOR International Conference on Japan and Japan Studies (IICJ 2016) for the first time, highlighting our host country and study related to it within this event.

The conference is packed with exciting and innovative research from various fields, and we are more than 200 in the beautiful city of Kobe, nestled between the mountains and the sea: the two dominant geographical features that have shaped Japan and her rich culture. Kobe is part of the urban sprawl of the Kansai that links it with Osaka, the great bustling metropolis, and the former capital cities of Nara and Kyoto. Japanese culture stretches back many millennia and more recently, after the isolation of the Edo period, Kobe became one of just a few places where foreigners were allowed to settle from the latter part of the 19th century, and to this day remains home to a diverse community of non-Japanese. This foreign influence can be seen in the architecture of the 19th-century traders’ houses in the Kitano area, a short walk up the hill past the ANA Crowne Plaza hotel, and also where IAFOR has its Kobe office.

There are more than 40 countries represented in the more than 200 delegates, and a rich and exciting programme that promises engagement with new, challenging and stimulating ideas, and the chance to engage in the building of networks, and the exploration of new research paths and friendships.

I hope you have the chance to enjoy the IAFOR documentary film and photography awards showings and that you take the time to get acquainted with the publishing opportunities afforded by IAFOR, including through the Conference Proceedings, and the internationally peer-reviewed IAFOR Journal of Cultural Studies, and of Asian Studies, as well as THINK, our new online magazine platform.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank our International Director of Programme for Cultural Studies, Professor Baden Offord, and also conference Co-Chairs, Professor Koichi Iwabuchi, and Professor Donald Hall, as well as to the IAFOR journal editors Dr. Seiko Yasumoto and Professor Holger Briel. I would also like to issue well wishes to Conference Chair, Professor Emerita Sue Ballyn and Chairman of IAFOR, Professor Stuart Picken, both of whom are unable to join us this year for health reasons.

I trust you will enjoy your time in Japan, and at this IAFOR conference. Welcome back to returnees, and welcome to those new to this conference. I look forward to getting the chance to meet you all.

With the warmest of regards,

Joe

Getting to the Conference Venue

The Art Center Kobe is conveniently located just a five-minute walk from Shin-Kobe Station.

From Kansai International Airport
Board the Kobe-bound Airport Limousine Bus from bus stop number 6 on the first floor of Kansai International Airport. Get off at Sannomiya Station (see below).

By Bullet Train (Shinkansen)
The Art Center Kobe is a five-minute walk from the 1F exit of Shin-Kobe Station. There are regular bullet train (Shinkansen) services from Osaka (15 minutes), Kyoto (30 minutes) Tokyo (two hours 48 minutes) and Hiroshima (1 hour 13 minutes).

From Sannomiya Station (Kobe Downtown Area)
The bustling downtown center of Sannomiya, with a huge range of restaurants, bars, cafes and shops, is a 15-minute walk, or a short direct subway ride away. The express train from Osaka Station to Sannomiya takes 21 minutes. There are three options:
1) Take the subway to Shin-Kobe Station (Seishin-Yamate Line)
2) Take a taxi to the Art Center Kobe (about five minutes and approximately 800 JPY)
3) Walk to the Art Center Kobe (about 15 minutes)

Around the Conference Venue
The Art Center Kobe is a large, modern events center overlooking the city, and is opposite the ANA Crowne Plaza, the official conference hotel.

Address: Kobe Geijutsu Senta, Kumochi-Bashi-Dori 7-13-11, Chuo Ku, Kobe City

Information and Registration

What to Wear & Bring

Attendees generally wear business casual attire. You may wish to bring a light jacket or sweater as meeting rooms are air conditioned. Tour attendees are recommended to wear a comfortable pair of shoes.

Smoking

Smoking is not permitted in the Art Center Kobe. Please smoke outside of the building in designated smoking areas.

Printing & Computer Access

For your convenience, there will be an iMac computer (with Microsoft Office installed) and a printer at the conference Registration Desk. We are able to offer a complimentary printing service of up to ten A4 sheets should you need this. Please be advised that printing may not be available at peak times.

Business Center

The Crowne Plaza operates a business center for copying, printing, and scanning. This business center is staffed and open between 09:00 and 17:00 daily.

Internet Access

There will be a free WiFi internet connection on the fifth floor of Art Center Kobe. However, this can be unreliable and we would strongly suggest that you do not rely on a live connection for your presentation.

WiFi Connection Name: kobe-art Password: art12345

Badges

When you check in, you will receive a registration pack, which includes your name badge. Wearing your badge is required for entrance to the sessions. You must wear your badge at all times during the conference. There are four colours of badges indicating the type of conference participant:

- Red: Presenters and General Audience
- Yellow: Keynote and Featured Speakers
- Blue: Conference Exhibitors and Affiliates
- Black: IAFOR Staff & Board Members

There will be photography, audio and video recording at the conference. By entering the event premises you give consent to the use of your photograph, likeness or video or audio recording in whole or in part without restriction or limitation for any educational, promotional, or purpose for distribution.

Eating & Drinking

Food and drink (excluding water) is not allowed in the presentation rooms. Also, please refrain from consuming food and drink in and around the 2F entrance area.

Refreshment Breaks

Complimentary coffee, tea, and water will be available during the scheduled coffee breaks at the Plenary Session on Friday morning on the 2F, and in Room 504 (5F) during the rest of the conference. Light snacks will also be provided.

Official Conference Dinner

The official Conference Dinner is a ticketed optional event (5,000 JPY). Delegates who have booked a place at the dinner will receive a dinner ticket at the Registration Desk. Please ensure that you keep hold of this ticket and hand it in to IAFOR staff on entering the restaurant. Conference Dinner attendees should meet in the Art Center Kobe 2F Lobby at 18:30 on Friday, June 3 2016. From here, IAFOR staff will lead the 20-minute walk to the restaurant.

Restaurant name: Ganko Tor Road (がんこ トアロード店)
Restaurant address: 3-1-17 Kita Nagasa Dori, Chuo-ward, Kobe City (兵庫県神戸市中央区北長狭通3-1-17)
Conference Welcome, Keynote Speaker & Featured Speaker Session: Friday 09:00-12:00

The Plenary Session will be held on Friday morning, with the event beginning at 09:00 in the Art Center Kobe’s 2F Prokofiev Hall. Please arrive in good time if you wish to attend these sessions. There will be an interval after the first Featured Presentation and complimentary refreshments and snacks will be served. The Plenary Session will be followed by the official conference photograph.

Oral Presentations & Workshop Presentations

Oral Presentation Sessions will run from 13:00 on Friday afternoon, and from 08:30 on Saturday & Sunday mornings. They are generally organised into parallel sessions by streams. Oral Presentations are normally scheduled in sessions comprising three presentations, lasting 90 minutes in total. In sessions with two Oral Presentations, the session will last 60 minutes, and in the case of four Oral Presentations, an extended session lasting 120 minutes will be scheduled.

How long can my presentation be?

The time in the sessions is to be divided equally between presentations. We recommend that an oral presentation should last 15-20 minutes to include time for question and answers, but should last no longer than 25 minutes.

Presentations & Equipment

All rooms will be equipped with a MacBook computer pre-installed with PowerPoint and Keynote and connected to a LCD projector. If you wish, you may directly link your own PC laptop, although we advise you to use the computer provided by plugging in your USB flash drive. We recommend that you bring two copies of your presentation in the case that one fails, and suggest sending yourself the presentation by email as a third and final precaution.

Session Chairs

Session Chairs are encouraged to introduce themselves and other speakers (briefly) using the provided print-outs of speaker bios, hand out the provided presentation certificates at the end of the session, ensure that the session begins and ends on time, and that the time is divided fairly between the presentations. Each presenter should have no more than 30 minutes in which to present his or her paper, and respond to any questions. Please follow the order in the programme, and if for any reason a presenter fails to show, please keep to the original timeslots as delegates use the programme to plan their attendance.

The Session Chair is asked to assume this timekeeping role, and to this end, a yellow and red timekeeping card is used as a visual cue for presenters, letting them know when they have five minutes remaining, and when they must stop.

Presentation Certificates

Poster Presenters can pick up a certificate of presentation from the Registration Desk. All other presenters will receive a certificate of presentation from their Session Chair or a member of staff at the end of their session.

A Polite Request to All Participants

Participants are requested to arrive in a timely fashion for all presentations, whether to their own, or to those of other presenters. Presenters are reminded that the time slots should be divided fairly and equally between the number of presentations, and that they should not overrun. Please refrain from discussion until after presentations have ended and ensure that mobile phones are switched off or on silent during presentations.

Poster Sessions

Poster Sessions will run on Saturday. Sessions are 90 minutes in length and will be held in Room 504 (5F).

Poster Requirements

The poster display boards are 1,800 mm high x 900 mm wide and pins and tape will be provided for putting posters up. Please be aware that there are no on-site facilities for printing posters.

Conference Proceedings

The Conference Proceedings are published on the IAFOR website (www.iafor.org), and can be freely accessed as part of the research archive. All authors may have their full paper published in the online Conference Proceedings. Full text submission is due before July 5, 2016 through the online system. The proceedings will be published on August 5, 2016. Authors will have PDF copies of their offprints emailed to them by the IAFOR office by September 5, 2016.
Lunch
Lunch on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday is included in the conference registration fee. Delegates have a choice of two restaurants located in the ANA Crowne Plaza, a five-minute walk away from the conference venue. Please see the map below for directions. Please collect your lunch voucher from the IAFOR staff member situated outside the restaurants at the ANA Crowne Plaza between 11.30-14:00. Please remember to bring your conference name badge as you will need to show this in order to claim your voucher. Please show your voucher to restaurant staff as you enter. Last entry to the restaurants will be at 14:00.

Mame no Hakate (豆乃畑), 2F
Japanese buffet-style restaurant with a great variety of Japanese dishes available, including vegetarian and vegan options. The restaurant specialises in tofu-based and traditional Japanese vegetable dishes. Lunch service includes unlimited drinks bar, coffee station and dessert table.

CONFERENCE CHAIRS & FEATURED SPEAKERS
John Nguyet Erni
Hong Kong Baptist University, Hong Kong

John Nguyet Erni is Chair Professor in Humanities and Head of the Department of Humanities & Creative Writing at Hong Kong Baptist University. He was a recipient of the Rockefeller and Annenberg research fellowships. He is also an elected Fellow and Member of the Executive of the Hong Kong Academy of the Humanities. Erni has published widely on international and Asia-based cultural studies, human rights legal criticism, Chinese consumption of transnational culture, gender and sexuality in media culture, youth popular consumption in Hong Kong and Asia, and critical public health. His books include In)visible Colors: Images of Non-Chinese in Hong Kong Cinema – A Filmography, 1970s – 2010s (with Louis Ho, Cinezin Press, forthcoming in 2016); Visuality, Emotions, and Minority Culture (forthcoming in 2016, Springer); Understanding South Asian Minorities in Hong Kong (with Lisa Leung, HKUP, 2014); Cultural Studies of Rights: Critical Articulations (Routledge, 2011); Internationalizing Cultural Studies: An Anthology (with Ackbar Abbas, Blackwell, 2005); Asian Media Studies: The Politics of Subjectivities (with Siew Keng Chua, Blackwell, 2005); and Unstable Frontiers: Technomedicine and the Cultural Politics of “Curing” AIDS (Minnesota, 1994). Currently, he is completing a book project on the legal modernity of rights.

Keynote Presentation: Negotiating ‘Refuge’: Humanitarianism for the ‘Included-outs’

There has been much discussion of new forms of world sovereignty postulated on interconnectivity. To what aspects of new sovereignty can human rights and humanitarian discourse still exert influence? If we start by acknowledging that the human rights regime has always been a mixed blessing for global politics, then how might we apprehend the balance point that tips human rights from being a global moral-juridical force aimed at human emancipation, to being a platform complicit with powerful states to launch their pursuit of war and capital exploitation, resulting in large-scale miseries of refugee displacements? To put it concisely, what is the relationship between human rights and the politics of Empire? In this lecture, I want to think some more on the figure of the “included-outs,” which I proposed in an essay published in 2015. In this extension, I want to attempt to bridge the notion of the included-out with the notion of “refuge” as enshrined in human rights discourse. The term “included-out” refers a form of existence and even of modern identity per se as produced out of the vast condition of what might be called “im/mobility on the periphery.” I want to suggest that because its very nature is that of indistinction (especially indistinction between inclusion and exclusion), this category of the “included-out” can be useful for reassessing the politics of negotiating “refuge.” Theorizing refuge – when taken as an aspiration, as moral-juridical protection afforded by human rights, and as spatial politics and spatial rights in city edges where refugees and other displaced populations move around – can have implications for understanding new modes of identity that grow out of peripheral im/mobility.
Baden Offord
Centre for Human Rights Education,
Curtin University, Australia

Baden Offord is an internationally recognised specialist in human rights, sexuality, education and culture. In 2012 he was a sponsored speaker to the 14th EU-NGO Human Rights Forum in Brussels where he spoke on ASEAN and sexual justice issues. In the same year he conducted a three-week lecture tour of Japan sponsored by the Australian Prime Minister’s Educational Assistance Funds post the Great Eastern Tohoku Earthquake in 2011.

He has held visiting positions at The University of Barcelona, La Trobe University, the Kinsey Institute at Indiana University and Rajghat Education Centre, Varanasi. In 2010-2011 he held the Chair (Visiting Professor) in Australian Studies, Centre for Pacific Studies and American Studies, The University of Tokyo. In Japan he has given lectures and research seminars at Chuo, Otemon Gakuin, Sophia, Tohoku and Keio Universities.

Prior to his appointment at Curtin University, he was Professor of Cultural Studies and Human Rights at Southern Cross University, where he was a faculty member from 1999-2014.

Keynote Panel: Social Movements and Critical Pedagogy

Noriko Manabe will present on Musicians as Educators in Recent Social Movements and David H. Slater will discuss New Ways of Becoming Political: ‘Social learning’ through the rituals of protest and the networked communication.
Donald E. Hall has published widely in the fields of British Studies, Gender Theory, Cultural Studies, and Professional Studies. Prior to arriving at Lehigh in 2011, he served as Jackson Distinguished Professor of English and Chair of the Department of English (and previously Chair of the Department of Foreign Languages) at West Virginia University (WVU). Before his tenure at WVU, he was Professor of English and Chair of the Department of English at California State University, Northridge (CSUN), where he taught for thirteen years. He is a recipient of the University Distinguished Teaching Award at CSUN, was a visiting professor at the National University of Rwanda, was 2001 Lansdowne Distinguished Visiting Scholar at the University of Victoria (Canada), was Fulbright Distinguished Chair in Cultural Studies at Karl Franzens University in Graz, Austria, for 2004-05, and was Fulbright Specialist at the University of Helsinki for 2006. He has taught also in Sweden, Romania, Hungary, and China. He has served on numerous panels and committees for the Modern Language Association (MLA), including the Task Force on Evaluating Scholarship for Tenure and Promotion and the Convention Program Committee. In 2012, he served as national President of the Association of Departments of English. In 2013, he was elected to and began serving on the Executive Council of the MLA.

His current and forthcoming work examines issues such as professional responsibility and academic community-building, the dialogics of social change and ethical intellectualism, and the Victorian (and our continuing) interest in the deployment of instrumental agency over our social, vocational, and sexual selves. His book, The Academic Community: A Manual For Change, was published by Ohio State University Press in the fall of 2007. His tenth book, Reading Sexualities: Hermeneutic Theory and the Future of Queer Studies, was published in the spring of 2009. In 2012, he and Annamarie Jagose, of the University of Auckland, collaborated on a volume titled The Routledge Queer Studies Reader, which was published in July of that year. He continues to lecture worldwide on the value of a liberal arts education and the need for nurturing global competencies in students and interdisciplinary dialogue in and beyond the classroom.
Koichi Iwabuchi is Professor of Media and Cultural Studies and Director of the Monash Asia Institute in Monash University, Australia. His main research interests are media and cultural globalisation, multicultural questions, mixed race and cultural citizenship in East Asian contexts.

Together with Chris Berry, he is a Co-Editor of Hong Kong University Press book series, TransAsia: Screen Cultures.

Keynote Panel 1: Social Movements and Critical Pedagogy

Noriko Manabe will present on Musicians as Educators in Recent Social Movements and David H. Slater will discuss New Ways of Becoming Political: Social learning through the rituals of protest and the networked communication.

Keynote Panel 2: Public Pedagogy and Social Praxis

In this panel, three practitioners, Megumi Yuki, Shigeaki Iwai and Gon Matsunaka will speak about the possibility and difficulty of fostering cultural diversity in Japanese society: Prof. Yuki on the establishment of Multicultural Community Advancement Officer Training Program at Gunma University and her engagement with multicultural co-living in the local; Mr. Iwai on the organisation of Immigration Museum Tokyo, which is a project to introduce and share diverse cultures rooted in the daily life through socially engaged art; Mr. Matsunaka on the empowerment of LGBT people and the enhancement of the understanding of related issues through creative activities of NPO Good Aging Yells. Their experiences will illuminate valuable insights into ways to put critical perspectives into praxis by innovatively involving a general public.
Yukinori Komine, Ph.D., is an Associate in Research at the Edwin O. Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies, Harvard University. He is an internationally trained political scientist whose area of expertise is US Foreign Policy and International Relations of the Asia-Pacific Region.

Featured Presentation: The Senkaku/Diaoyu Islands Disputes in the U.S.-Japan-China Strategic Triangle: Explanations from Analytical Eclecticism

This study adopts an eclectic approach to explaining the principal implications of the Senkaku/Diaoyu Islands disputes in the East China Sea, as they pertain to U.S.-Japan-China triangular relations. In particular, based on the growing trend of analytical eclecticism in International Relations (IR), it employs three major theories (Realism, Liberalism, and Constructivism) to explore the military, political, economic and cultural-normative implications of the Senkaku/Diaoyu issue. This study presents six possible scenarios in the development of the Senkaku/Diaoyu situation. Realist approaches focus on the balance of power in the U.S.-Japan-China security/diplomatic triangle. Realists assess that the enhancement of the U.S.-Japan alliance (including realignment of U.S. bases within Japan, Japan’s defense build-up, and the promotion of U.S.-Japan defense cooperation) could either deter China’s naval expansion or trigger China’s assertive responses. Liberal analyses explain the role of complex interdependence among the world’s three largest economic powers. Specifically, Liberalists highlight that the reported potential reserves of natural resources (oil and natural gas) in the East China Sea could promote energy security or become a major flashpoint of regional energy disputes. Constructivist proponents explore how nationalism, especially the search for greater prestige, has become a major driving force in the re-emergence of Sino-Japanese rivalries in East Asia. The two old Asian rivals seek to boost their prestige, namely the reputation for power, in their respective leading roles in East Asia. The U.S., as an offshore balancer, faces the risk of entrapment into Sino-Japanese conflicts over tiny inhabitant rocks. Alternatively, the three major powers may attempt to develop mutual understandings to discuss regional challenges in the long-term. In essence, the employment of analytical eclecticism could contribute to making the on-going territorial issue an unintended ‘geopolitical center’ in U.S.-Japan-China strategic triangle. The study concludes by providing policy relevant suggestions to better comprehend the linkage among material and normative factors of the Senkaku/Diaoyu situation in East Asian security.
Amy Szarkowski, Ph.D., is a Psychologist in the Deaf and Hard of Hearing Program at Boston Children’s Hospital and an Instructor in the Department of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. Clinically, she specialises in conducting psychological assessment with children who are deaf or hard of hearing and providing counseling services to families impacted by hearing loss. Her areas of research interest include social-emotional functioning and quality of life issues in deaf and hard of hearing children (including those with complex medical conditions), combined autism and hearing loss, and disability rights issues.

Featured Presentation: Disability in Japan

This talk will look at disability issues, and perceptions of disability, both physical and intellectual, in Japan.

Based on her own work and research, this presentation will also draw on the work of Misa Kayama (a researcher of disability issues and social worker, who is herself in a wheelchair) and author of the book, Disability, Culture, and Development: A Case Study of Japanese Children at School, and Osamu Nagase, a consultant to the UN, contributor to the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, and senior authority in Japan on Intellectual Disability. Both Dr. Kayama and Dr. Nagase consulted and contributed materials toward this presentation.
Spotlight Presentation: The Takarazuka Revue: Crossing Borders

Japan's all-female Takarazuka Revue has recently celebrated a centenary since the opening of its first theatre in 1914, the Paradise Theatre in Takarazuka, Japan. The Takarazuka Revue started internationalisation in 1938 with performances in Europe. It has progressively crossed the borderland of more than 86 cities. Performances have been presented in four continents including Europe (Germany, Poland, Italy, France and England), Asia (China, Taiwan, Korea, Malaysia, Singapore, Thailand, and Myanmar), North America (USA and Canada), and South America (Mexico, Argentina, and Brazil).

This study explores the adaptation and remaking of the original text from novel, to manga, to theatre production, with focus on the 2015 performance of La Rose de Versaille in Taiwan. La Rose de Versaille is the second-most successful Takarazuka Revue show, with performances still ongoing. The theatre production is an adaptation of the manga ベルサイユのばら (La Rose de Versaille). The creator of the manga is Ikeda Riyoko, who was inspired by Stefan Zweig's 1933 novel Marie Antoinette: The Portrait of an Average Woman. The timing of the manga, written 1973-74, is significant in the context of the research, coming at the peak of Japan’s ‘economic miracle’. La Rose de Versaille is similarly placed in a pivotal period in French history, the 1789-1799 French Revolution. The research framework utilises triangulation, inclusive of textual, audience, and cultural analysis. It draws on foregrounding, Straubhaar’s ideas of ‘asymmetrical interdependence’ and cultural proximity as well as Lotman’s ‘philosophy of culture’. It analyses the validity of Hutcheon’s findings.
Holger Briel
Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University, China

Professor Holger Briel from Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University is the editor of the IAFOR Journal on Cultural Studies. Professor Briel holds a Ph.D. in Cultural Theory from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst and an M.A. in Comparative Literature from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He also holds a B.A. in English from Eberhardt-Karls-Universitat Tubingen, Germany. Professor Briel also completed a portion of his graduate studies at the Universite de Paris, Sorbonne.

Professor Briel has taught at several universities in the past including: UGSM-Monarch Business School (Switzerland), the Department of Communications & Media Studies at the University of Nicosia (Cyprus), the University of Innsbruck, Austria, the New York University Skopje (Macedonia) where he held Vice-Rector and Deanship positions, Aristotle University Thessaloniki, and the University of Athens (Greece) and the University of Surrey (UK). Over the years he has been the recipient of many research grants and fellowships and is a well-published academic with many books, book chapters and peer reviewed articles on Cultural Studies. Professor Briel is also a member of the EU Council for Higher Education and has been appointed as a member of the IAFOR Advisory Board.

Spotlight Presentation: Public Service Announcements and their Cultural Groundings in Asia and Europe

In today’s visual-based world, many assume that image en- and decoding are unified global processes and in many instances this is the case. It is seductive to think that this holds true at all times, but this would be far from the truth. Rather, image participation is a deeply culture-dependent process and its analyses need to rest on sound cultural differentiation in the first instance. In particular, visual regimes in Asia and the West still remain apart. In my presentation, I will semiotically illustrate this fact with examples of public service announcements from China and Germany. It will become clear that when it comes to serious re-presentation of public interest, Germany (and according to my theory, the West in general) will still not allow imagery to get in the way of alphabetic signification. I will give a number of pertinent examples to that effect and contend that these contradictory world views continue to hamper mutual understanding. This is all the more important as humans are becoming ever more reliant on visual communication as their main means of communication. As a final step I will argue for the necessity of heightened visual intercultural training and will give examples of how this might be done.

Keynote Presentation: Musicians as Educators in Recent Social Movements

The nuclear crisis post-3.11 exposed systemic bias in media toward pronuclear arguments. Coupled with textbooks, government-sponsored poster contests, and nuclear-themed cartoons like Astro Boy and Doraemon, the educational system and children’s culture naturalized nuclear power as safe and necessary for the nation. Pronuclear television advertisements reinforced these ideas among adults, while the industry kept antinuclear entertainers off the airwaves.

Where media failed, musicians played a crucial role in creating outlets for alternative views and attracting people to them. Some have played the educator’s role explicitly: Shing02 researched and wrote his own informational website and gave lectures on it, while Gotō Masafumi (Asian Kung-Fu Generation) established and edited his own newspaper. Namba Akihiro, Nakagawa Takashi (Soul Flower Union), and Kishida Shigeru (Quruli) blogged or tweeted about nuclear power. Already possessing an audience, they helped to direct fans to alternative information sources like the character Monju-kun. Saitō Kazuyoshi, Rankin Taxi, and others created music videos that gave voice to silenced feelings and provided many seeds for thought.

Musicians also created safe spaces for discussion at live performances. Sakamoto Ryuichi organized the No Nukes concerts, which projected informational videos, provided information in books and programs, and made NGO booths available on-site for further discussion, as did the Atomic Café at Fuji Rock Festival. Ōtomo Yoshihide and Endō Michirō’s Project Fukushima Festival prompted festivalgoers to engage in activities and think about Fukushima’s plight. Finally, music mobilized residents to participate in demonstrations, spurring them to voice their concerns in time to the rhythm.
David H. Slater is professor of cultural anthropology and Digital Media at the Faculty of Liberal Arts, Sophia University. He works on capitalism, labor and youth culture; disaster and recovery; and digitally mediated activist politics. His publications include edited volumes Social Class in Contemporary Japan (2000), Japan Copes with Calamity (2015) and the forthcoming, Alternative (to) Politics: Activism, Youth and Digitality. Recent related publications include “SEALDs (Students Emergency Action for Liberal Democracy): Research Note on Contemporary Youth Politics in Japan” and “Mobilizing Discontent: Social Media and Networked Activism since the Great East Japan Earthquake.” He is the curator of the largest oral narrative archive of the events of the triple disaster from 2011, “Voices from Tohoku” and will open another site, “Voices of Protest” in 2016.

Keynote Panel Presentation: New Ways of Becoming Political: ‘Social learning’ through the rituals of protest and the networked communication

Since the spring of 2015, we have seen some of the largest and most spectacular demonstrations in Tokyo since ANPO, roughly called, ‘anti-war,’ and in particular those organized by SEALDs, a youth group in Tokyo. Often overlooked is the group’s starting point of this movement – the failure of universities to teach politics in a relevant and accessible way. Much of what we have seen in SEALDs can be considered an attempt at alternative pedagogy, an effort to layout a new way to be political in Japan today. Through the commandeering of very open and public spaces—both online and offline (around Kasumigaseki), rather than local chapters or cells, for example, we see quite distinct modes of communication we might call ‘social learning,’ a mode of peer communication focused more on the establishment of political cultures rather than articulation of political ideologies. For this, SEALDs have come under harsh criticism from both left and right but this paper will argue that in fact, what is afoot here is potentially more sustainable, open and inclusive that almost anything we have seen heretofore in postwar Japan. This talk is based on fieldwork and video interviews collected continuously since 2011.
Megumi Yuki, Ph.D. is Head of Planning and Operations at Gunma University and Gunma Prefecture Multicultural Community Advancement Officer Training Program. She specialises in educational sociology and has conducted research projects on school non-attendance (joint project with the Oizumi Municipal Board of Education), South American schools in Japan (commissioned by the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology–MEXT), the Multicultural Coexistence Research Project (MEXT Special Support Program for Community Engagement) and Developing Human Resources to Enable the Creation of a Society founded on Multicultural Coexistence (MEXT Good Practice program). She serves on bodies of the MEXT Policy Forum on the Education of Children of Long-Term Foreign Residents and the Working Group of the Education of Brazilian Schools.

Keynote Panel: Public Pedagogy and Social Praxis

In this panel, three practitioners will speak about the possibility and difficulty of fostering cultural diversity in Japanese society: Prof. Yuki on the establishment of Multicultural Community Advancement Officer Training Program at Gunma University and her engagement with multicultural co-living in the local; Mr. Iwai on the organisation of Immigration Museum Tokyo, which is a project to introduce and share diverse cultures rooted in the daily life through socially engaged art; Mr. Matsunaka on the empowerment of LGBT people and the enhancement of the understanding of related issues through creative activities of NPO Good Aging Yells. Their experiences will illuminate valuable insights into ways to put critical perspectives into praxis by innovatively involving a general public.
Shigeaki Iwai is Artist / Director of Pilot Project for the Immigration Museum Tokyo. Iwai has continued to produce a variety of visual expressions that are composites of video, sound and text based on his research of specific communities in Japan, as well as in Europe, Australia and South East Asia, which he began conducting in 1990. In recent years, alongside these activities, he has been hosting workshops for local non-Japanese residents living in Japan and conducting research on multiculturalism. Professor – Akita University of Art, lecturer – Tokyo University of the Arts Musical Creativity and the Environment.

Gon Matsunaka is Director of Good Aging Yells, which he founded in 2010 to enhance public awareness of LGBT rights and create social environment in which LGBT people can live happily in Japan. It was officially authorised as Certified NPO (non-profitable organisation) by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government. As director of Good Aging Yells, Matsunaka has been working hard as a bridge between the LGBT community and different stakeholders including other minority groups, corporations, NGO/NPOs, educational institutions, governments and social communities. He has contributed to the Japan’s first same-sex partnership certificate ordinance in Shibuya Ward, Tokyo as an advisor to support its enforcement.

Dr. Lorna Piatti-Farnell is Reader in Popular Media and Cultural History, and Director of the Popular Culture Research Centre at Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand. Her research interests lie at the intersection of Gothic studies, food studies, contemporary popular media, and cultural history. She has published widely in these areas, and is author of multiple books, including The Vampire in Contemporary Popular Literature (Routledge, 2014). She has recently published the book entitled Banana: A Global History, which is garnering significant media attention, and is currently writing a new monograph, entitled Consuming Gothic: Food and Horror in Film, to be published by Palgrave.

Spotlight Presentation: From Sexy Dances to Slipping Gags: Tracing the Cultural History of the Banana in Popular Culture

For over a century, the banana has been rumoured to be everybody’s favourite fruit. Quick and easy to eat, tasty and versatile in its culinary uses, the banana is a staple of many diets around the world. Often erroneously dismissed as insignificant and commonplace, the banana’s history, however, is more than simply a succession of happy family scenes and the appeal of exotic locations. The growth and development of the fruit we know and love today is entangled with colonial practices, capitalist enterprise, sexual politics, and even horrific murders. Within the realms of popular culture, the banana holds multifaceted layers of meaning and importance: its recognizable image appears in diverse and sometimes surprising contexts, which are often entangled with the historical circumstances that have aligned to make this fruit one of the most popular foods on the planet. With this idea in mind, this paper traces the popular and distinctly global life of the seemingly ‘humble fruit’ in cultural practices, advertising, and popular entertainment. Focusing particularly on the Western imagination, the analysis explores the significant and pervasive presence of the ‘exotic’ fruit, from 19th-century medical manuals to cookbooks, songs, the famous ‘banana peel gag’, and the well-known appeal of the Miss Chiquita icon.
Richard Donovan
Kansai University, Japan

IICJ 2016 Local Kansai Conference Chair Richard Donovan lectures in comparative literature and translation studies in the Faculty of Letters at Kansai University. He has also worked as a translator at the Kyoto City International Relations Office. He obtained a PhD in literary translation studies at Victoria University of Wellington in 2012. The title of his thesis was Dances with Words: Issues in the Translation of Japanese Literature into English. His other areas of interest include Japanese media subculture and environmental technology.

Sue Ballyn
Australian Studies Centre, Barcelona University, Spain

IICJ 2016 Conference Chair Sue Ballyn is Prof. Emerita at Barcelona University from where she graduated with a BA in 1982. Her M.A. thesis on the writings of Sylvia Plath and Ted Hughes won the Faculty prize in 1983. In 1986 she won the Faculty prize again, this time for her PhD thesis on Australian Poetry, the first Ph.D. on Australian Literature in Spain.

She joined the English and German Philology Department on graduation 1982 and has remained at the university ever since. In 1990 she founded the Australian Studies Program which was recognised as an official Barcelona University Observatory – Studies Centre in 2000, known as CEA, Observatorio Centre d’Estudis Australians. It is the only Australian Studies Centre in Spain and one of the most active in Europe.

She is involved in a project on ageing in literature DEDAL-LIT at Lleida University which in turn is part of a European project on ageing: SforAge. As part of this project she is working on Human Rights and the Elderly, an area she started to research in 1992. In 2016 a book of interviews with elderly women, with the working title Stories of Experience, will be published as part of this project. These oral stories are the result of field work she has carried out in Barcelona.
The International Academic Forum

Academic Vision and Mission

“To Open Minds, To Educate Intelligence, To Inform Decisions”

The vision of IAFOR grew out of the perceived need to fill a vacuum in the communication and exchange activities of the academic world. Its mission arose out of examining that space and investigating why it existed. The vacuum existed because of the lack of opportunity for serious and thoughtful exchange between academics, members of the global business community, and practitioners in the fields of human endeavor that linked these groups together. In the field of education, for example, we have academic theorists, educational managers (political decision-makers and organisational directors) and classroom teachers with their support staff in IT, library work, exchange programmes, and specialist fields. But how often do they have the opportunity to interact?

Moving beyond one particular field, larger questions arise. What function should universities prioritise in the 21st century? What do businesses see as their contribution to social and global well-being? How can people on the ground, trying to implement improvements that will transform human life, best be supported? And perhaps above all, what are the agendas that will drive mechanisms to enable these groups to interact effectively.

One piece of distilled thought that came from early exchanges at one of our conferences was the recognition that some of the rhetoric of concern about the problems of developing nations was perhaps over-focused on the term “poverty” because it can be defined only in a relative way. “Hunger” was put forward as being more immediate and itself a contributory factor to poverty, rather than the other way round. One key to the hunger issue could be the provision of safe drinking water, or water for irrigation in some contexts, while flood management might be necessary elsewhere. These, in and by themselves become valuable only insofar as they help to relieve hunger in specific contexts.

IAFOR is affording opportunities that do not exist elsewhere. The base is Kansai, Japan’s great commercial and manufacturing hub, one symbol of the emerging Pacific economy that is already eclipsing the long dominant Atlantic zone. Our conferences present those taking part with three unique dimensions of experience. First of all, they encourage interdisciplinary activity to be expanded. Depending on the field, this can face varying degrees of difficulty, ranging from discouragement to downright prohibition. Those overly dependent on fixed academic structures often see lateral thinking as a threat. None of these negatives apply in IAFOR. Its purpose is to generate new approaches that cross any disciplinary lines. The principle employed is to let the imagination permit intuitive responses to questions. There are no panels of critics. There are simply people who want to listen and reflect. The model of academic work as potholing is replaced by the metaphor of mountaineering. While respecting the need for solid and well-founded academic work, we feel the need to go beyond it from time to time to discover fresh approaches to old questions.

Secondly, it facilitates the heightening of intercultural awareness. Again, we encourage innovation through cross-cultural perception. Cultural roots influence people in their attitudes more than most would realise or admit. The need to see and internalise insights gained from other viewpoints is met by a process of steady illumination.

Thirdly, it promotes the broadening of international exchange. We may live in a world, but in reality parochialism still holds sway. The collapse of the U.S.S.R and the break-up of Yugoslavia led to the re-establishment of numerous former countries. While this may be desirable for the peoples concerned, it merely adds to the world’s cultural confusion. Exchange leads to explanation and that helps the growth of intercultural awareness.

IAFOR makes all of these developments possible in one gathering. Our conferences are not a substitute for specialist conferences. We intend our events to be an alternative that functions as a balance or even a corrective to the extreme tendencies that can arise from more narrowly defined research parameters. In short, IAFOR is promoting and facilitating a new multifaceted approach to one of the core issues of our time, namely globalisation and its many forms of growth and expansion. Awareness of how it cuts across the worlds of business, and academia, along with its impact on societies and institutions is one of the driving forces that has given the organisation its momentum, and is making it a pioneer in this global age.

Chairman

The Reverend Professor Stuart D. B. Picken
Order of the Sacred Treasure, M.A. (Hons), B.D., Ph.D. (Glasgow), F.R.A.S.

Stuart D. B. Picken is the Chairman of the International Advisory Board, and in this role is Chairman of the Organisation. As Chairman of IAFOR, Professor Picken helps guide the academic and political strategy of the organisation, and assists in the forging of global institutional partnerships. He is also responsible for the development of the IAFOR Research Institutes.

The author of a dozen books and over 130 articles and papers, Professor Picken is considered one of the foremost scholars on Japan, China, and Globalisation in East Asia. As an academic, Professor Picken has devoted more than 30 years to scholarship in Japan, notably as a Professor of Philosophy at the International Christian University in Tokyo, where he specialised in ethics and Japanese thought, and as International Adviser to the High Priest of Tsubaki Grand Shrine (Mie prefecture). He has also served as a consultant to various businesses, including Jun Ashida Ltd., Mitsui Mining & Smelting Corp., Kobe Steel, and Japan Airlines.

In November 2008, the Government of Japan awarded Professor Picken the Order of the Sacred Treasure for his pioneering research, and outstanding contribution to the promotion of friendship and mutual understanding between Japan and the UK. The honour is normally reserved for Japanese citizens and is a mark of the utmost respect in which Professor Picken is held by the Japanese Government. More recently, in 2012 he was invited to London to attend a reception at the Japanese Embassy, hosted by Emperor Akihito and Empress Michiko as an expression of their gratitude towards Britons who had helped support Japan after the 2011 Tohoku earthquake and tsunami. Professor Picken helped organise fundraising efforts through both the Japan Society of Scotland, of which he is the Chair, in the UK, and IAFOR in Japan.

Although now resident in Scotland, Professor Picken maintains his interests in Japan, as Chair of the Japan Society of Scotland, through the IAFOR IAB, and through regular visits.

President & C.E.O.

Joseph Haldane

Joseph Haldane is the President and Chief Executive Officer of The International Academic Forum. He was Academic Director from IAFOR’s inception in 2009 until January 2011, and Executive Director from 2011 until late 2014, when he assumed his current role. He is responsible for devising strategy, setting policies, forging institutional partnerships, implementing projects, and overseeing the organisation’s business and academic operations, including research, publications and events.

Dr. Haldane’s academic interests include politics and international affairs, literature and history, and he holds a Ph.D. from the University of London in 19th century French Studies. He began his academic career in France, and from 2002-2005 held full-time faculty positions at the University of Paris XII (Paris-Est Créteil) and Sciences Po Paris, as well as visiting positions at both the French Press Institute in the University of Paris II (Université Panthéon-Assas), and the School of Journalism at Sciences Po Paris. Prior to founding IAFOR in 2009, Dr. Haldane was an Associate Professor at Nagoya University of Commerce and Business in Japan, where he taught a range of language and culture courses at undergraduate level, and the MBA Ethics course in the graduate school.

Dr. Haldane is now a Guest Professor at Osaka University’s School of International Public Policy (OSIPP), where he teaches on the postgraduate Global Governance Course. In 2016 he is also an Invited Lecturer in the School of Journalism at Moscow State University. His current research concentrates on post-war and contemporary politics and International Relations especially in and between Japan, China and the USA.

From 2012-2014 Dr. Haldane served as Treasurer of the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan (Chubu Region) and he is currently a Trustee of the HOPE International Development Agency (Japan). In 2012 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Asiatic Society, and in 2015 a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.

A black belt in judo, he is married with two children and lives in Nagoya, Japan.

IAFOR Key Staff

Kiyoshi Mana – International Director of Operations
Kiyoshi is the International Director of Operations, responsible for overseeing the operations of the organisation, including IAFOR’s conferences in Asia, Europe, North America and the Middle East. An American of Japanese descent, Kiyoshi has long been fascinated by the country of his ancestors, studying both Japanese language and culture at San Francisco State.

Thaddeus Pope – Senior Manager: Media and Design
Born and raised in Brighton, UK, Thaddeus is an experienced commercial and editorial photographer with a B.A. in Photography from the London College of Communication, University of the Arts London. Thaddeus oversees IAFOR’s design and media output, as well as producing photo-essays, short documentaries and other visual content for the organisation’s publications, including THINK. He is also the Creative Director of the IAFOR Documentary Photography Award.

Rachel Dyer – Publications Manager
Rachel studied art history at the University of Nottingham, UK, before embarking on a career in publishing in London. She has worked in print and online as a content manager, writer and editor across numerous titles, with a particular interest and focus on the arts and education. In her role as Publications Manager at IAFOR she is responsible for coordinating all IAFOR publications, including the journals, THINK and The IAFOR Academic Review.

Ann-Loy Morgan – Marketing Manager
Ann-Loy was born in Montego Bay, Jamaica in a multicultural family with deep roots in tourism and hospitality. After graduating from the University of the West Indies, she started her career as an investigative journalist, producing documentaries for one of Jamaica’s Emmy award-winning radio stations. Ann-Loy has since transitioned into marketing, working in the FMCG, tourism and luxury industries.

John Ananthan – Technology Coordinator
Born and raised in northern Denmark in a multicultural family, John studied Computer Science at University College Nordjylland. At an early age he started his own IT company, worked for several third-party companies and now has over 11 years of experience in website management and software development. Due to his Scandinavian background, John speaks Danish and can understand Norwegian and Swedish.

Virpi Helena Yasuda – Senior Administrative Assistant
Virpi has a BBA degree in Modern Languages and Business Studies for Management Assistants from HAAGA-HELIA University of Applied Sciences, Finland. Her common passions for both Japan and languages brought her to Nagoya to study Japanese. Helena joined IAFOR soon after finishing her one and a half year Japanese language course at the Trident College of Languages and Hotel Studies.

Ame Zhang – Administrative Assistant
Originally from Yantai, China, Ame majored in Japanese language at college. In order to acquire a deeper knowledge of Linguistics, he started his Master's degree in Japan three years ago. Now he is working on a Ph.D. degree at Kobe University. Before moving to Japan, Ame gained experience working as a translator.

Alexander Pratt – Deputy Director of Operations
A Civil Engineering graduate from the University of Nottingham, UK, Alex first came to Japan in 1997. Previous to joining IAFOR, in 2011 Alex held positions in education management, information services, and international relations. At IAFOR Alex helps oversee the general administration and operation of the organisation and works alongside the Director of Operations to expand IAFOR’s events in Japan and internationally.

Shawn Mahler – Senior Manager: Production
Los Angeles native Shawn Mahler has a wealth of experience working on film, video, and theatre productions in the United States and Japan. He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Film Theory and Production from the University of California, Irvine. Shawn has spent over ten years in Japan where he has worked with numerous industry professionals to develop television shows, movies, and theatrical productions.

Yumiko Horie – Events and Domestic Relations Manager
Yumiko Horie is responsible for conference management and developing IAFOR’s institutional partner relationships. An Ibaraki-born Japanese native, she started her career as a correspondent of a major Japanese newspaper, before returning to study, gaining an M.Sc. at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, UK. She has since worked in the international non-profit sector for UN institutions and an NGO.

Darcey Barge – Media Coordinator
Darcey was born and raised in Yakima, Washington. Graduating from Yakima Valley and Collins College with qualifications in animation and TV video production, she pursued a career in the media at KNDO-TV. After moving to KNXV-TV in Phoenix she received two Emmy nominations for her technical directing work Technical Directing Under Breaking News.

Stephen Rudden – Systems & Administrative Coordinator
Originally from Leicester, UK, Stephen Rudden is an experienced network and systems engineer with a B.Sc. in Computing from the University of Westminster. Before joining IAFOR in April 2015, Stephen was a network engineer for a global consumer electronics company.

Nami Toyama – Administrative Assistant
Nami grew up in Aichi Prefecture of Japan, where she studied Commerce and Economics at university. She gained a senior secretary mechanic qualification before working for various automobile-related companies, with a particular focus on quality management and business administration. She joined the IAFOR team in spring 2015.

Mariko Oguri – Administrative Assistant
Marko was born and raised in Nagoya, Japan. She majored in American History and as an exchange student in the US she focused on Gender Perspective. She then worked at the international sales section at a company in Aichi. Marko also has translated correspondence exchanged between Japan and the US and has worked as a Study Abroad Counsellor.
IAFOR Journals

The International Academic Forum’s Journals conform to the highest academic standards of international peer review, and are published in accordance with the IAFOR publishing commitment to make all of our published materials available online.

How are Journal Editors appointed?

Journal Editors are appointed by The International Academic Forum’s leadership, under the guidance of the Chairman of the International Advisory Board. The term of appointment is for one issue, to be renewed by mutual consent.

How do we ensure academic integrity?

Once appointed, the editor is free to appoint his or her own editorial team and advisory members. All papers published in the journal have been subjected to the rigorous and accepted processes of academic peer review. Neither editors nor members of the editorial team are remunerated for their work. Authors will never be asked to “contribute” towards publication costs.

How are papers selected?

Journal Editors may accept papers through an open call, and proposed articles may be sent directly to the respective editors. A small number of papers from the associated IAFOR Conference Proceedings may also be selected by the journal editor(s) for reworking and revising, subject to normal processes of review. It is expected that between five and ten percent of papers included in any given Conference Proceedings will be developed for inclusion in the associated conference journal.

How are IAFOR Journals related to IAFOR conferences?

IAFOR’s journals reflect the interdisciplinary and international nature of our conferences and are organised thematically. Papers included in the associated Conference Proceedings may be considered for reworking by the editor(s), and are then subjected to the same processes of peer review as papers submitted by other means.

IAFOR Keynotes Series

The IAFOR Keynotes Series is a collection of Keynote Presentations, or associated papers given at our conferences. Presented as a part of the open research archive, the Keynotes Series provides an example of the range and quality of speakers at IAFOR events. These keynotes are lightly reworked, and contain references, but are otherwise true to the original address. Many can also be seen in video format on our YouTube page. Whether you were present at the conference or not, the content from senior academics is a valuable source of information for research across a broad range of disciplines.

Special Series & Monographs

The International Academic Forum publishes a number of special monographs both in print and online. One such publication is the IAFOR Haiku Anthology, which features a selection of haiku from the annual IAFOR Vladimir Devidé Haiku Award. This year’s award was its most prolific yet, attracting nearly 700 submissions from 60 countries. iaforhaikuaward.org
