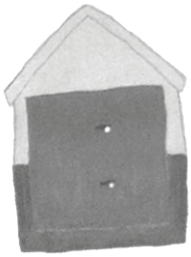
July 11-14, 2013

Brighton, UK



welcome to

letter of welcome

Dear Delegates,

I am proud and delighted to be welcoming you to the Inaugural European Conference on Education, which I know will develop highly successful – and indeed transformative – engagements with the contested spaces of education across Europe and beyond. This is the sister conference to the Asian Conferences on Education, with which I am honoured to have been associated since their inception, attending the inaugural conference in 2009.

The European Conference on Education is an interdisciplinary international conference that invites academics, practitioners, scholars and researchers from Europe and across the world to meet and exchange ideas as well as to create new engagements with the challenges and contestations of learning and teaching. It is a forum in which to share the development of intellectual ideas and the challenges to dominant paradigms that occur through the academic exchanges of the conference, considering and debating the transformative spaces of learning and teaching.

The conference theme, Learning and Teaching Through Transformative Spaces, is an important one to education and is no doubt in part the reason that this inaugural conference has attracted delegates from across the globe. As education systems becoming increasingly socially, ethnically and culturally diverse, and become increasingly challenged through cuts in funding, politics and policy changes, the challenges of engaging with this theme become ever more important.

The programme for this conference promises to be an exciting one, with thematic topics that address the central aim of the conference in different but complementary ways, including through papers that draw on empirical research, that develop theoretical and conceptual insights, and that engage with pedagogy, experiential and lifelong learning. The conference will be enhanced through its distinguished keynote and featured speakers and its wide variety of presenters, who will draw on their diverse experiences and knowledges and on their academic, personal and geographic contexts, in a programme that promises exciting and challenging discussion.

I have no doubt that we will all be able to use the time spent at this conference for intellectual discovery and for the development of collaborative links and connections between the researchers, academics, scholars and practitioners who are attending.

I strongly encourage your active engagement with this conference. I very much look forward to the opportunity of meeting the delegates to this inaugural conference and to continuing together the work of ECE into the future.

Yours sincerely

Sue Jackson, Conference Chair
Professor of Lifelong Learning and Gender
Pro-Vice-Master for Learning and Teaching

letter of welcome

Dear Delegates,

What an honor it is to welcome you to the First European Conference on Technology in the Classroom (ECTC), and to the parallel First European Conference on Education (ECE)!

As a participant in prior IAFOR conferences, I can assure you that you are in for an engaging and productive exchange with colleagues from around the world. I hope that you find the IAFOR experience to be meaningful and enjoyable. Rarely do we have occasion as educational scholars and practitioners to encounter such a global representation of perspectives and insights in our disciplines. The ECTC gathering provides an international forum for enlightening academic exchanges, along with plenty of opportunities for informal discussion and networking with peers. The excellence of this conference experience is heightened by the spectacular setting for this meeting, the beautiful landscape of Brighton. It is a great fortune to have such a lovely venue for this professional event. I hope you are able to venture out into the community and surrounding area to enjoy all that this fantastic seaside city has to offer. Many thanks to Dr. Joseph Haldane and the IAFOR conference team for all of their planning and tremendous efforts in organizing this international event!

The ECTC inaugural conference theme is "The Impact of Innovation: Technology and You", a theme that is focused on changes in the educational landscape, changes that are reflected in new approaches to pedagogical theories and practices. One of the great benefits of your participation here will be the chance to explore how technological affordances can influence approaches to teaching and learning, prompting transformation of theory and pedagogy and leading to educational innovation.

In reviewing all of the learning and interaction opportunities in the ECTC and ECE program, there is no doubt that the impact of innovation is exemplified in the outstanding forum in which you are about to engage. Our featured speakers and concurrent sessions are set to explore new horizons in learning, demonstrating creative and meaningful educational approaches that leverage the power of technological advances. This year's meeting is sure to facilitate the sharing of new ideas, dynamic discussion, and discovery of synergies across disciplines.

On behalf of the IAFOR conference organizers, I hope you will find this premiere ECTC gathering to be invigorating, rewarding, and most of all, enjoyable. Welcome, and let the sharing of great ideas begin!

With warm regards,

Barbara B. Lockee, Ph.D.

Barabara P. Lockee, Conference Chair
Professor of Instructional Design and Technology

Information and Registration

The Conference Registration and Information Desk will be situated in the Atrium on the first floor of the hotel throughout the conference. If you have already paid online, or by bank transfer, you will be able to pick up your registration pack. This will include a tote bag, the conference programme, and your official certificate of attendance and receipt of payment. At this time you will also be given a name card, and lanyard.

For those wishing to pay on the day, please note that we will not be able to process credit cards.

Conference Welcome, Keynote & Featured Panel Session: Friday 9:00-12:00

The plenary session will be held on Friday morning, with the event beginning at 9:00 in the Renaissance Suite on the Lower Ground Floor. Please arrive in good time if you wish to attend the session. There will be an interval after the Keynote address and complimentary refreshments and snacks will be served.

The ECTC featured speaker session will be held on Saturday afternoon, with the session beginning at 16:00 to 16:45 in the Renaissance A Suite on the Lower Ground Floor. Please arrive in good time if you wish to attend the session.

Concurrent Speaker Sessions

Concurrent Sessions will run on Friday afternoon, and on Saturday and Sunday. They are generally organized into streams. Sessions include two, three or sometimes four presenters. Each presenter has thirty minutes including Q and A time. The session length reflects the number of presenters.

Presentations and Equipment

All rooms will be equipped with a MacBook computer pre-installed with PowerPoint, as well as a screen and an LCD projector. If you wish, you may directly link your own PC laptop, although we advise you to use the computer provided by plugging in your USB flash drive.

We recommend that you bring two copies of your presentation in the case that one fails, and suggest sending yourself the presentation by email as a third and final precaution.

Session Chairs

Session Chairs are expected to introduce themselves and other speakers (briefly), and ensure that the session begins and ends on time, and that the time is divided fairly between the presentations. Each presenter should have no less than 30 minutes in which to present his or her paper, and respond to any questions.

The session chair is asked to assume this timekeeping role, and to this end, a yellow and red colored timekeeping card is used as a visual cue for presenters, letting them know when they have 5 minutes remaining, and when they must stop.

Please follow the order in the programme, and if for any reason a presenter fails to show, please keep to the original timeslots as delegates use the programme to plan their attendance.

A Polite Request to All Participants

Participants are requested to arrive in a timely fashion for all addresses, whether to their own, or to those of other presenters. Presenters are reminded that the time slots should be divided fairly and equally between the number of presentations, and that they should not overrun.

We recommend that the 30 minutes presentation timeslot be divided as follows: 20 minutes for the paper and 10 minutes for Q and A.

Poster Sessions & Poster Requirements

The poster frames are B1 and so it is recommended that posters be no larger than B1 (707mm x 1000mm/27.8 inches x 39.4 inches). A1 (594mm x 841mm/23.4 inches x 39.4 inches) is also fine. If your poster is outsized, then we will be able to provide tape.

conference guide

Internet
There will be wireless Internet connection throughout the hotel. However, this can be temperamental and we would suggest that you do not rely on live connection for your presentation, or have back up screen shots in the case of internet down time.

For your convenience, there will also be a limited number of computers in the registration area.

Printing
There will be a printer behind the information desk in the base room, and we are able to offer a complimentary printing service of up to ten A4 sheets should you need this. Please be advised that printing may not be available in peak times.

Badges
When you check in, you will receive a conference package, which includes your name badge. Wearing your badge IS required for entrance to the sessions. If you lose your badge it can be replaced for a fee of 40 GBP. You must wear your badge at all times during the Conference.

If you are not wearing your badge, security will stop you and ask you to show your ID and evidence that you are registered. Those unable to show proof will be escorted from the Conference by security.

There are (4) colors of badges indicating the type of conference participant:

BLUE: Presenters and General Audience
YELLOW: Keynote and Featured Speakers
BLUE: Conference Exhibitors and Affiliates
BLACK: IAFOR Staff & Board Members

What to Wear & Bring
Attendees generally wear business casual attire. You may want to bring along a light jacket or sweater, as the temperature in meeting rooms is often difficult to control.

Security
Do not leave personal items or conference bags unattended anywhere in the Thistle Brighton as this will be taken away by security. For the enjoyment of all participants, inappropriate behavior will not be tolerated and violators will be removed from the premises.

Smoking
Smoking is not permitted in the Thistle Brighton.

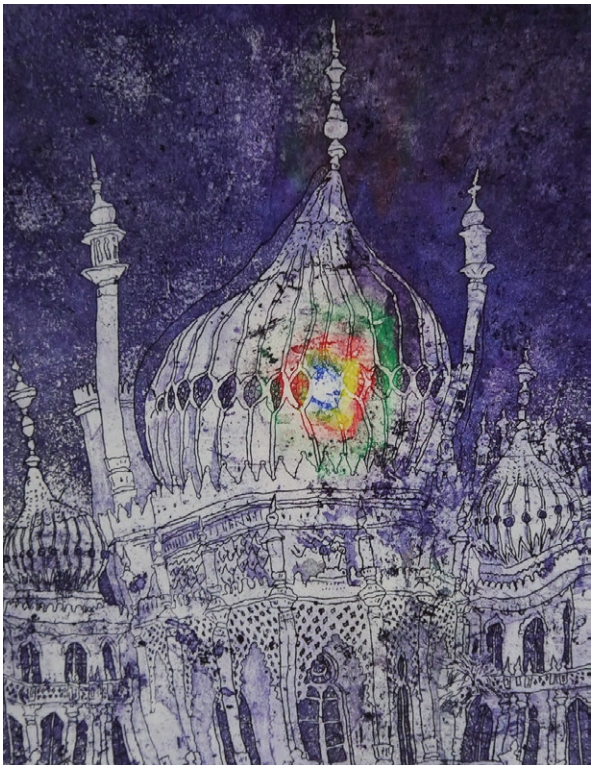
There will be photography, audio and video recording at the conference. By entering the event premises you give consent to the use of your photograph, likeness or video or audio recording in whole or in part without restriction or limitation for any educational, promotional, or any purpose for distribution.

Refreshment Breaks
Complimentary coffee, tea, and water is available throughout the day in the Atrium. Light snacks will be provided once in the morning and once in the afternoon. Packed lunch will be provided by IAFOR and can be picked up at the registration desk. Meals can be purchased at any of the restaurants or convenience stores in and around the Thistle Brighton.

Meals & Drinks
As a conference registrant, if you booked through the conference site and if you are staying at the Thistle Brighton then the breakfast buffet is included in your room price. This is a good occasion to meet other delegates. You must book through the venue page of the website to enjoy this arrangement.



CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

The Conference Proceedings are published on the IAFOR website (www.iafor.org), and can be freely accessed as part of the research archive.

All authors may have their full paper published in the online conference proceedings. Full text submission is due by September 1, 2013 through the online system. The proceedings will be published on October 1, 2013.

Authors will have PDF copies of their offprints emailed to them by the IAFOR office by the end of October 2013.

Barbara P. Lockee
Virginia Tech, USA

Barbara B. Lockee is a Professor of Instructional Design and Technology and Associate Director of Educational Research and Outreach in the School of Education at Virginia Tech. She teaches courses in instructional design, message design, and distance education. Her research interests focus on instructional design issues related to technology-mediated learning. She has published more than 80 papers in academic journals, conferences and books, and has presented her scholarly work at over 90 national and international conferences. Dr. Lockee is Immediate Past President of the Association for Educational Communications and Technology, an international professional organization for educational technology researchers and practitioners. She earned her Ph.D. in 1996 from Virginia Tech in Curriculum and Instruction (Instructional Technology), M.A. in 1991 from Appalachian State University in Curriculum and Instruction (Educational Media), and B.A. in 1986 from Appalachian State University in Communication Arts.

She is a member of the International Academic Forum's International Advisory Board, and also acts as a conference co-chair for the Asian Conference on Society, Education and Technology ece 2013 plenary opening address

Yvonne Hillier
University of Brighton, UK

Linda Morrice
University of Sussex, UK

Yvonne Hillier is Professor of Education in the Education Research Centre. She is a founder member of the national of the Learning and Skills Network (LSRN). She was Chair of the Society for Research in Higher Education (SRHE) from 2010- 2012. Her teaching background covers working with children with learning difficulties, working with adult basic skills learners and tutors and the professional development of post-compulsory teachers. She has researched issues of teaching and learning in post-compulsory education including basic skills practice, national vocational qualifications, initial teacher training, and work based learning. Her latest book Reflective Teaching and Adult and Further Education 3rd edition was published by Continuum in January 2012. She is author of books on FE policy (All you ever wanted to know about FE Policy, Continuum, 2006), and Adult Basic Skills – Changing Faces of Adult Literacy, Language and Numeracy: A Critical History with Mary Hamilton, (Trentham, 2006) and Adult Literacy, Numeracy and Language: policy, practice and research edited with Mary Hamilton and Lyn Tett (Open University Press – McGraw Hill, 2006). Her current research involves working with community partners and parent researchers examining the effects of educational regeneration.

Panel - Transforming Universities: Transformation or just good learning?
Yvonne will be outlining the main claims for transformative learning and draw upon recent critiques to stimulate further discussion and set challenges for examining the impact and practice of transformative learning.

Linda Morrice is Senior Lecturer in Education at University of Sussex, UK. Her research interests focus on lifelong learning, equity, identity, migration and life history. Her most recent book, 'Being a refugee: learning and identity'; a longitudinal study of refugees in the UK, was published by Trentham Books in 2011. Linda is a member of the Centre for Higher Education and Equity Research at the University of Sussex and a member of Council and Honorary Treasurer of SCUTREA (Standing Conference on University Teaching and Research in the Education of Adults). She is co-convener and co-founder of the ESREA (European Society for Research in the Education of Adults) Network on Migration, Ethnicity, Racism and Xenophobia. Linda is a member of the editorial board of Studies in the Education of Adults and the editorial board of the ESREA book series Research on the Education and Learning of Adults.

Panel - Transforming Universities: Hidden Histories: Challenges for Pedagogy and Participation
Higher Education has become and an increasingly diverse and globalised system in which the binaries between 'traditional' and 'non-traditional' students, exclusion and inclusion have less resonance and analytical purchase. Drawing on research with refugees Linda will suggest that higher education can be marked simultaneously by belonging and recognition, deficit and exclusion. Complex differences and inequalities remain hidden and unspoken, raising new questions and challenges for pedagogy and for equal participation of students.

Mary Stuart
University of Lincoln, UK

Mary Stuart joined the University of Lincoln, UK as Vice Chancellor in November 2009. She is a graduate of the University of Cape Town and the Open University where she obtained her Doctorate in Social Policy in 1998. Her research interests are focused on life histories, social mobility, higher education students and community development.

Since joining the University of Lincoln, Mary has renewed the curriculum at Lincoln, growing science provision and establishing the first new engineering school to be created in the UK for more than 20 years in collaboration with engineering giant Siemens plc. Mary recently announced plans to create a new science and innovation park, including a school of pharmacy, in collaboration with Lincolnshire Co-operative. Passionate about the student experience, she has developed new student engagement opportunities at Lincoln, working closely with Lincoln's Students' Union, and has also introduced new programmes to improve graduate employability. Mary has been a champion of widening participation and life-long learning. Her latest book, 'Social Mobility and Higher Education: The life experiences of first generation entrants in higher education', was published in 2012.

Mary was previously Deputy Vice Chancellor at Kingston University and a Pro Vice Chancellor at the University of Sussex between 2000 and 2005. She has extensive experience in developing working partnerships between institutions and leading change within universities. She is a Board member of Universities UK, a member of HEFCE's Teaching Quality and Student Experience Strategic Committee, the Higher Education Public Information Steering Group as well as being Chair of the Universities Association of Lifelong Learning (UALL), Chair of Open Educational Resource (OER) Steering Group, Chair of Action on Access Advisory Committee and Deputy Chair of the University Alliance.

Keynote Speech: Transformative Spaces - Learning, Teaching and Social Mobility

This talk with focus on how mobilities; geographic and imaginary, affect young people's learning identities and can transform their future life changes by making them upwardly socially mobile. Using material from biographies gathered from people who were the first in their families to attain a higher education qualification and who have moved into employment in universities, the talk will focus on their reflections on key transformations in their educational careers.

Rosemary Deem
Royal Holloway,
University of London, UK

Valerie Hey
University of Sussex, UK

Rosemary Deem is Vice Principal (Education) and Professor of Higher Education Management at Royal Holloway, University of London. An Academician of the UK Academy of Social Sciences, Rosemary is a sociologist who has also worked at Loughborough, York, the Open and Lancaster Universities and the former North Staffordshire Polytechnic. She was a UK Education Research Assessment Exercise sub-panellist in 1996, 2001 and 2008, has twice chaired the British Sociological Association, is a former and current UK Council for Graduate Education Executive member (1999-2002, 2011-), directed the UK Education Subject Centre ESCAlate from 2001-2004 and was Vice-Chair of the Society for Research into Higher Education from 2007 - 2009.

Panel Speech - Transforming Universities: 'Transforming HE – in whose image?'
The presentation will look at three current themes related to the transformation of higher education and ask some critical questions about current trends in the 'transformation' of universities and where these leave the purposes of 21st century universities:
1. Teaching versus research in the transformed university
2. Public versus private higher education – does transformation mean higher education has simply become a private good?
3. The rise of the MOOCs – a real transformation or an illusion of participation?

Valerie Hey is Professor of Education at the University of Sussex. She is co-director of the Centre for Higher Education Studies located in the School of Education & Social Work. Her research interests have been inspired by her social and intellectual biography and are transdisciplinary working across the fields and approaches of: feminist theory; cultural studies and sociology. She is well-known for her work on girlhood cultures of friendship and gender and education. She was the principal applicant for an ESRC seminar series convened to discuss the 'disqualified discourses' of higher education entitled 'Imagining the University of the Future' and along with Professor Louise Morley, has focussed on devising with colleagues in CHEER and beyond, a cultural sociology of higher education as a means to infuse our understanding of the Academy as producing both social divisions as well as positive generative possibilities. The webpage http://www.sussex.ac.uk/education/cheer has more information about Professor Hey's research interests and achievements.

Panel Speech - Transforming Universities: What's love, (hate, envy, pain & privilege) got to do with it - a provocation about the intractability of emotion with/in education
This presentation assembles a series of ideas into an argument for taking the affective seriously as a source of important evidence about how power/difference work inside institutions. Taking heart and a cue from Sara Ahmed's work especially her notion of 'affective economies' , Valerie will ponder the conditions of structured and vested antagonism that seem to be increasingly at stake in the moral & political economy of higher education, especially within the English state as students are incited to become 'consumers' & 'customers' and academics enjoined to 'deliver' what students want. Trying to avoid nostalgia or a simple 'defence' of the public university of the past, Valerie will think out loud about what kind of higher education institution is sustainable, desirable and socially useful in austerity Britain.

Miriam E. David, PhD., AcSS, FRSA is Professor Emerita of Sociology of Education and was, until recently, Professor (2005-2010) and Associate Director (Higher Education) of the ESRC's Teaching & Learning Research Programme (2004-2009) at the Institute of Education University of London. She is also a visiting Professor in the Centre for Higher Education & Equity Research (CHEER) in the School of Education and Social Work at the University of Sussex and formerly a Professor at London South Bank (1988-97); University of the Arts (1997-9) and Keele University (1999 – 2005). Miriam is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts, an Academician of the Academy of Social Sciences and was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Education for widening participation by the University of Bedfordshire (2009). In the past Miriam has been Chair of the Council of the Academy of Social Sciences (AcSS) from 2005-2009, a member of the UK Economic & Social Research Council's Research Grants Board (2006-9) and was on the Governing Council of Society for Research in Higher Education (SRHE) (2006-2011). Miriam was the inaugural chair of the Gender & Education Association and now serves on its board as Policy Officer. She has a world class reputation for her feminist social research on families, gender, social diversity and inequalities across education and has published 25 books and reports, and 160 articles or chapters, including an intellectual biography in 2003 Personal and Political: Feminisms, sociology and family lives, Stoke-on-Trent: Trentham Books. Miriam's latest book Feminism, Gender and Universities: Politics, Passion and Pedagogies is in press.

Panel Speech - Transforming Universities: Synopsis of Feminism, Gender and Universities

This presentation is based upon her book entitled Feminism, Gender and Universities: Politics, Passion and Pedagogies. She looks at how feminism has become both a political and an educational project and how it has transformed women's lives in the direction of gender equality. Miriam will review the ways in which gender equality in education is now a global phenomenon and discuss the UNESCO report (2012). She will also briefly consider how she talked with over 100 international academic feminists in the social sciences to develop a life history and collective biography of academic feminism and the development of feminism in the social sciences in global academe, over the last 50 years. She concludes with outlining the importance of feminism is as an educational project and how it has been instrumental in these academic women's lives, as well as elaborating on the prospects for a feminist friendly future within the global academy.

Catherine McLoughlin is currently the Coordinator of SIMERR ACT, the Research Centre for Science, Information Technology and Mathematics Education for Rural and Regional Australia (SiMERR) within the Faculty of Education, Australian Catholic University, Canberra. Dr McLoughlin is an author of numerous refereed publications, including journal articles, book chapters and conference papers on a wide range of topics related to e-learning, the design of culturally sensitive learning environments, the evaluation of learning technologies, innovative pedagogies and learner engagement.

Featured Speech: The Big Question about MOOCs: Do They Signal a Transformation in Higher Education and Pedagogical Innovation?

Global trends in education such Open Educational Resources, Open Courseware and MOOCs are the latest development in the trend towards greater openness in higher education. With the rapidity of globalisation, uptake of digital tools, rising demand for more affordable, flexible and accessible learning resources, new models of delivery are emerging. MOOCS are the most recent digital educational offerings that are now promising to shake up universities and pedagogies worldwide. They present a new a paradigm: a course offered to the masses. This wave of democratisation of learning, and the free, high quality resources offered by 'star' professors of elite universities such as Harvard, MIT and Princeton are creating discussion about global access to education, assessment strategies and pedagogy. As MOOCs throw open the doors of a course and invite anyone, anywhere, to enter, new learning dynamics are emerging, with networked collaborative learning and crowdsourced assessment. As universities worldwide are adopting the MOOC strategy, essential questions remain about the delivery mechanism, roles of teacher and learners and approaches to teaching that can engage very large and geographically dispersed learners. This paper reviews current global developments and takes a critical look at the pedagogical design parameters of MOOCS.

IAFOR
The International Academic Forum
Academic Vision and Mission

The vision of iafor grew out of the perceived need to fill a vacuum in the communication and exchange activities of the academic world. Its mission arose out of examining that space and investigating why it existed. The vacuum existed because of the lack of opportunity for serious and thoughtful exchange between academics, members of the global business community, and practitioners in the fields of human endeavor that linked these groups together. In the field of education, for example, we have academic theorists, educational mangers (political decision-makers and organizational directors) and classroom teachers with their support staff in IT, library work, exchange programs, and specialist fields. But how often do they have the opportunity to interact?

Moving beyond one particular field, larger questions arise. What function should universities prioritize in the 21st century? What do businesses see as their contribution to social and global wellbeing? How can people on the ground, trying to implement improvements that will transform human life, best be supported? And perhaps above all, what are the agendas that will drive mechanisms to enable these groups to interact effectively.

One piece of distilled thought that came from early exchanges at an iafor conference was the recognition that some of the rhetoric of concern about the problems of developing nations was perhaps over-focused on the term "poverty" because it can be defined only in a relative way. "Hunger" was put forward as being more immediate and itself a contributory factor to poverty, rather than the other way round. One key to the hunger issue could be the provision of safe drinking water, or water for irrigation in some contexts, while flood management might be necessary elsewhere. These, in and by themselves become valuable only insofar as they help to relieve hunger in specific contexts.

iafor is affording opportunities that do not exist elsewhere. The base is Osaka, Japan's great commercial and manufacturing hub, one symbol of the emerging Pacific economy that in time will eclipse the long dominant Atlantic zone. iafor conferences present those taking part with three unique dimensions of experience. First of all, it encourages interdisciplinary activity to be expanded. Depending on the field, this can face varying degrees of difficulty, ranging from discouragement to downright prohibition. Those overly dependent on fixed academic structures often see lateral thinking as a threat. None of these negatives apply in iafor. Its purpose is to generate new approaches that cross any disciplinary lines. The principle employed is to let the imagination permit intuitive responses to questions. There are no panels of critics. There are simply people who want to listen and reflect. The model of academic work as potholing is replaced by the metaphor of mountaineering. While respecting the need for solid and well-founded academic work, we feel the need to go beyond it from time to time to discover fresh approaches to old questions.

Secondly, it facilitates the heightening of intercultural awareness. Again, iafor encourages innovation through cross-cultural perception. Cultural roots influence people in their attitudes more than most would realize or admit. The need to see and internalize insights gained from other viewpoints is met by a process of steady illumination.

Thirdly, it promotes the broadening of international exchange. We may liven a globalized world, but in reality parochialism still holds sway. The collapse of the U.S.S.R and the break-up of Yugoslavia led to the re-establishment of numerous former countries. While this may be desirable for the peoples concerned, it merely adds to the world's cultural confusion. Exchange leads to explanation and that helps the growth of intercultural awareness.

iafor makes all of these developments possible in one gathering. An iafor conference is not a substitute for specialist conferences. It is intended to be an alternative that functions as a balance or even a corrective to the extreme tendencies that can arise from more narrowly defined research parameters. In short, iafor is promoting and facilitating a new multifaceted approach to one of the core issues of our time, namely globalization and its many forms of growth and expansion. Awareness of how it cuts across the worlds of business, and academia, along with its impact on societies and institutions is one of the driving forces that has given iafor its momentum and is making it a pioneer in this global age.

Chairman of the International Advisory Board
The Reverend Professor Stuart D. B. Picken, Order of the Sacred Treasure, M.A. (Hons), B.D., Ph.D. (Glasgow), F.R.A.S.

Professor Picken is the Chairman of the IAFOR International Advisory Board. The author of a dozen books and over 130 articles and papers, he is considered one of the foremost scholars on Japan, China, and Globalization in East Asia. As an academic, Professor Picken has devoted more than 30 years to scholarship in Japan, notably as a Professor of Philosophy at the International Christian University in Tokyo, where he specialized in ethics and Japanese thought, and as International Adviser to the High Priest of Tsubaki Grand Shrine (Mie prefecture). He has also served as a consultant to various businesses, including Jun Ashida Ltd., Mitsui Mining & Smelting Corp., Kobe Steel, and Japan Air Lines. In November 2008, the Government of Japan awarded Professor Picken the Order of the Sacred Treasure for his pioneering research, and outstanding contribution to the promotion of friendship and mutual understanding between Japan and the UK. The honour is normally reserved for Japanese citizens and is a mark of the utmost respect in which Professor Picken is held by the Japanese Government. More recently, in 2012 he was invited to London to attend a reception at the Japanese Embassy, hosted by Emperor Akihito and Empress Michiko as an expression of their gratitude towards Britons who had helped support Japan after the 2011 Tohoku earthquake and tsunami. Professor Picken helped organize fundraising efforts through both the Japan Society of Scotland, of which he is the chair, in the UK, and IAFOR in Japan. As Chairman of the IAB, Professor Picken is responsible for the academic affairs and direction of the organization. He is also responsible for the development of the IAFOR Research Institute. Although now resident in Scotland, Professor Picken maintains his interests in Japan, as Chair of the Japan Society of Scotland, and through the IAFOR IAB. He is also the Chairman of the Academic Board of New College, Birmingham. He lives near Glasgow with his wife and two children.

Vice-Chairman of the International Advisory Board
Professor Jerry Platt, B.S. (Michigan State), MBA (Wayne State), MA, PhD (Ohio State), MS (Stanford)

Jerry Platt is Professor of Global Business at Akita International University, Japan and Professor Emeritus at San Francisco State University. Professor Platt holds a B.S. in Multidisciplinary Social Sciences from Michigan State University, an MBA from Wayne State University, an M.A. in Public Administration, and a Ph.D. in Public Policy and Management from the John Glenn School of Public Affairs at Ohio State University, and an M.S. Statistics Post-Doctoral Degree from Stanford University. His research interests span business, technology and public policy and he is the author of over 85 peer-reviewed papers in these and associated fields. Balancing industry with academic interests, Jerry also served as head of financial analysis for a Bay Area Fortune 500 company, and as CEO of an aviation firm. He has been Principal Investigator on more than twenty U.S. federal research grants. From 1976-2004, Professor Platt was on the faculty of the School of Business at San Francisco State University, and was named Dean in 2001. From 2004 he was Senecal Endowed Dean of the Business School at the University of Redlands, California, before holding concurrent professorships at Redlands and Akita International University, Japan from 2010 until 2012. As Vice-Chair of the IAFOR International Advisory Board, Professor Platt advises the organization on matters pertaining to IAFOR's development and strategy, as it faces the challenge of sustainable growth as both a regional and global organization.

Executive Director
Dr Joseph Haldane, B.A., Ph.D. (London), F.R.A.S

Joseph Haldane is the Executive Director of the International Academic Forum. He was Academic Director from IAFOR's inception in 2009 until January 2011, when he assumed his current enlarged role. He is responsible for setting policies, forging institutional partnerships, implementing projects, and overseeing the research and publications of the organization, as well as maintaining responsibility for overseeing IAFOR's growing global operations. Joe's academic interests include politics and international affairs, literature, history, and the history of ideas, and he holds a PhD from the University of London in French Studies. He has taught at the University of Paris XII [2002-2004], at the French Press Institute in the University of Paris II - Pantheon-Assas [2003-2004] and was a full-time lecturer at Sciences Po in Paris, where he directed a postgraduate course on British Politics and Media in the School of Journalism [2004-2005]. In 2005 he moved to Japan, and immediately prior to this post was an Associate Professor at Nagoya University of Commerce and Business in both the undergraduate and graduate schools, teaching the Ethics course in the graduate school. He is a fellow of the Royal Asiatic Society.

Osaka Conference Organizing Committee Chair
Professor Steve Cornwell, M.A. (Wake Forest), M.F.A. (Virginia Tech), M.A.T. (School for International Training), Ed.D. (Temple)

Steve Cornwell is Professor of English and Interdisciplinary Studies at Osaka Jogakuin University, and also teaches in the online portion of the MATESOL program for the New School in New York. He helped write and design several of the New School courses and has been involved with the program since its inception. He is involved with the Japan Association for Language Teaching (JALT) (an affiliate of IAFOR) severing on its National Board of Directors (Director of Program); his duties involve working with a volunteer team of 50+ to put on JALT's annual, international conference each fall. Most recently, since 2012 he has been the Committee Chair of Osaka Jogakuin University's Lifelong Learning Committee and is responsible for their evening extension program geared at alumni and community members. He is also the Vice-Chair of Osaka Jogakuin University's English Education Committee which is responsible for suggesting policy regarding English Education and also responsible for developing material for the integrated curriculum. This year he is serving as country coordinator for Teachers Helping Teachers' Bangladesh Team. Teachers Helping Teachers is a special interest group of JALT and has been working closely with the Bangladesh English Language Teaching Association (BELTA) for several years jointly putting on professional development events for English teachers in Bangladesh. An American who has made Osaka his home, Professor Cornwell first became involved with IAFOR as a featured speaker at the first ACE conference in 2009, and has gradually become more involved in the organization, and in his capacity of Local Conference Chair, now assists in the logistical and administrative side of every event. He advises extensively on academic matters too, with particular responsibility for overseeing and developing the programs of the ACLL/ACTC conference in Japan, and the ECLL/ECTC event in the UK.

The Japan Liaison Committee (JLC)

The Japan Liaison Committee is a consultative committee that provides support in the form of advice and guidance in specific aspects of the planning and projects of the Forum held in Japan. The Chairman of the International Advisory Board is also chair of the JLC. Members of the JLC are ex-officio members of the International Advisory Board.

Mr Thomas Marc Haldane - Chief Operations Officer (Non-Academic) & Head of Office

A photographer and designer by training and graduate of London College of Communication, Tom Haldane was IAFOR's Director of Design, Media and Communication from 2009 until 2011, when he was named Chief Operations Officer. He is responsible for overseeing the general non-academic administration and operations of IAFOR, but still maintains responsibility for overseeing the organization's design and media, most particularly in the development of the website.

Mr Kiyoshi Mana - Manager: Events, Marketing and International Relations

Kiyoshi Mana manages IAFOR's Events, Marketing and International Relations, and manages the administrative team in the Nagoya Office, and also acts as the Osaka conference on-site manager. He works with the COO to ensure the administrative side of the organization runs smoothly, using skills he had developed as a marketing coordinator for a tech company in the Silicon Valley. An American of Japanese descent, Kiyoshi has long been fascinated by the country of his ancestors, studying both Japanese language and culture at San Francisco State, and also successfully training to be a sushi chef. Coming from a family of educators, he came to Japan in 2009 to continue his studies and to teach, before joining IAFOR in 2011 in a position that utilizes his marketing experience, and his strong commitment to education.

Ms Melissa Choi - Coordinator: Publications, Communications and International Relations

Melissa Choi holds a B.Sc. in Life Sciences from the University of British Columbia, Canada, and an M.A. in International Cooperation from Seoul National University (Korea). Her postgraduate study included a period as an exchange student at Waseda University in Tokyo. Previous to joining IAFOR, Melissa held positions in communications and education in Singapore, Korea, and Japan. A linguist who speaks Japanese, Cantonese and Mandarin as well as her native English, she is responsible for IAFOR's public relations and communications, as well as for overseeing its publications.

Ms Mai Hasuno - Coordinator: Events, Marketing and Domestic Relations

Mai works with the Events and Marketing Team with responsibility for developing and implementing IAFOR's marketing strategy within Japan. She also acts as special assistant to the Executive Director and the IAB Chairman in the administration of the Japan International Liaison Committee. Previous to joining IAFOR, Mai worked for the Aioi Nissay Dowa Insurance Corporation.

Mr Michael Liam Kedzlie - Coordinator: Research & International Relations

Michael Liam Kedzlie is a New Zealander who currently works as the Research and International Relations Coordinator, based in IAFOR's Nagoya office. He has worked in the tertiary education sectors in both New Zealand and Japan and has in the past worked as a Parliamentary Assistant for a New Zealand MP, as well as in the New Zealand Tourism Industry. Michael has a Master's degree in Education from Massey University as well as a Law degree from the University of Waikato Law School. He is an enrolled Barrister and Solicitor of the High Court of New Zealand and has broad interests within the Law, Public Policy and Politics.

Ms Megumi Mukudai

General Secretary and Executive Assistant to the Executive Director

Megumi Mukudai provides support and assistance to the Executive Director, and is involved with general administration of the organization. Megumi trained as a primary school teacher, specializing in music education and English at Kobe Women's University. She spent one year in Dublin studying English, and a year in Paris studying French at the Sorbonne.

Mr Alexander Pratt - Coordinator: Events, Marketing & International Relations

A civil engineering graduate from the University of Nottingham and a self-confessed jack of all trades, Alex first came to Japan in 1997. Previous to joining IAFOR, in 2013, Alex held positions in education management, information services, and international relations. At IAFOR he helps with the general administration and operation of conferences, as well as with the website.

Ms Miho Tanaka - Assistant Coordinator: Events & Marketing

Ms Miho Tanaka joined IAFOR upon graduating from university with a degree in English Communication from Nagoya University of Commerce and Business. Her study included a year abroad with exchange programmes in the University Manchester in the UK, and Uppsala University in Sweden. She assists with marketing and general administration.

Ms Virpi Helena Silvennoinen – Assistant Coordinator: Administration & Finance

Ms Virpi Helena Silvennoinen has a BBA degree in Modern Languages and Business Studies for Management Assistants from HAAGA-HELIA University of Applied Sciences, Finland. Her studies included a half-year exchange program in EDHEC Business School in France and a half-year training as a Secretary at Finnish Security Intelligence Service. Her common passions for both Japan and languages brought her to Nagoya to study Japanese. Helena joined IAFOR soon after finishing her one and a half year Japanese language course at the Trident College of Languages and Hotel Studies. Her duties include assisting in finances and general administration.

IAFOR's Open Access
Publishing Committment

IAFOR is committed to providing ALL of its publications in online form for no fee.

Researchers and scholars, regardless of institutional affiliation and status, can access our academic journals, monographs, magazine, conference materials and special publications for no charge, wherever there is internet access.

IAFOR will never ask authors to contribute towards publication costs, or engage in other such publishing practices which we believe undermine academic independence and integrity.

Melissa Choi
Publications Coordinator

mchoi@iafor.org

IAFOR Journals

The International Academic Forum's Journals conform to the highest academic standards of international peer review, and are published in accordance with the IAFOR publishing commitment to make all of our published materials available online.

Journals FAQ

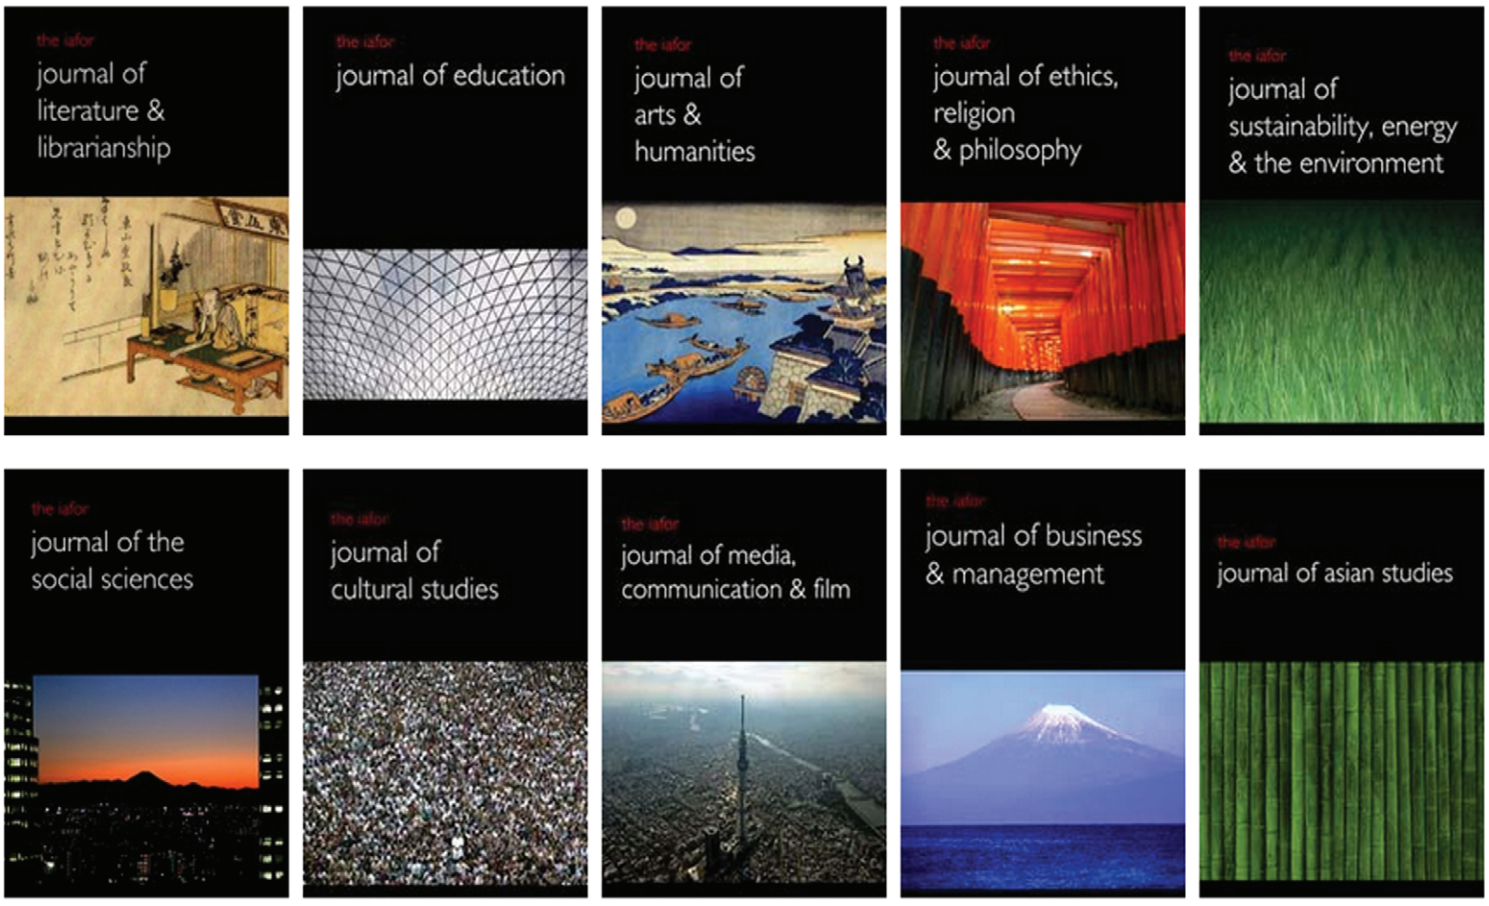
How are journal editors appointed?
Journal Editors are appointed by the International Academic Forum's leadership, under the guidance of the Chairman of the International Advisory Board. The term of appointment is for one issue, to be renewed by mutual consent.

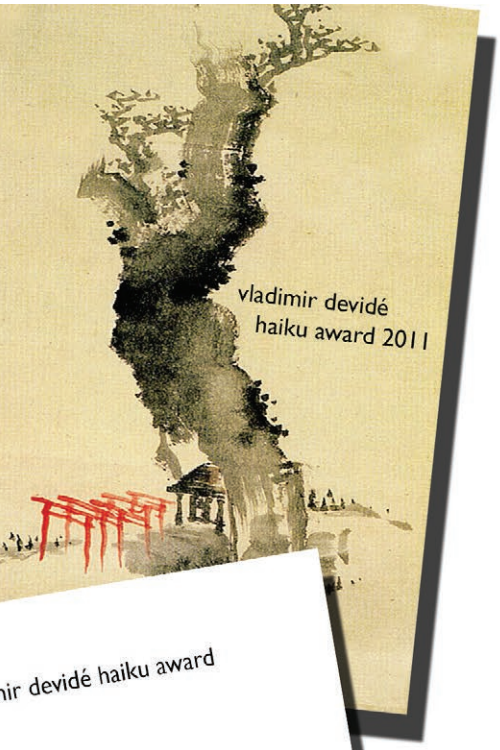
How do we ensure academic integrity?
Once appointed, the editor is free to appoint his or her own editorial team and advisory members. All papers published in the journal have been subjected to the rigorous and accepted processes of academic peer review.
Neither editors nor members of the editorial team are remunerated for their work. Authors will never be asked to "contribute" towards publication costs.

How are papers selected?
Journal Editors may accept papers through an open call, and proposed articles may be sent directly to the respective editors.

A small number of papers from the associated IAFOR conference proceedings may also be selected by the journal editor(s) for reworking and revising subject to normal processes of review. It is expected that between 5 and 10 percent of papers included in any given conference proceedings will be developed for inclusion in the associated conference journal.

How are IAFOR Journals related to IAFOR conferences?
IAFOR's journals reflect the interdisciplinary and international nature of our conferences and are organized thematically. Papers included in the associated conference proceedings may be considered for reworking by the editor(s), and would then be subjected to the same processes of peer review as papers submitted by other means.





IAFOR Keynotes

The IAFOR Keynotes series is a collection of keynote addresses, or associated papers given at our conferences. Presented as a part of the open research archive, the Keynotes series provides an example of the range and quality of speakers at IAFOR events. These keynotes are lightly reworked, and contain references, but are otherwise true to the original address. Many can also be seen in video format on our YouTube page. Whether you were present at the conference or not, the keynotes are thoughtful addresses by senior academics, the content of which may help your research.

Special Series & Monographs

The International Academic Forum is publishing a number of special monographs in print and online form. One such publication is a selection of haiku from the Annual Vladimir Devidé Haiku Award.

Eye Magazine

It has taken months in planning but we have finally launched our first issue to showcase and encourage inspiring and intellectual discussion. At IAFOR we felt that you, as a reader of Eye, should also have the opportunity to contribute to this new exciting magazine venture. Thus we hope that it can give you the opportunity to also creatively focus your own vision, perspective and insight as a contributor to future editions. We trust that Eye magazine will be an informative, interesting and exciting way for us to communicate with you, and you in turn with us. In future editions we hope to bring you a wide range of articles and stories ranging from interviews and reviews, through to showcases of the newest, most innovative and thought-provoking ideas from academia. We hope you enjoy the first edition!
